Creaghan Harry has had 15 years of experience in several industries. His career began by creating a state of the art database called the American Aviation Directory. This consistently updated database consisted of a complete file of all aircraft and owners with specification on every aircraft in over 160 countries worldwide along with a database of aircraft professionals and licensed pilots. The International Aviation Directory and the AirCD became the #1 source for aircraft data in the world with thousands of customers that were the who's who of the Aviation Industry. This publication was followed by other industry publications, including The American Boating Directory and the Surplus Closeout Finder, The Surplus Buyers Guide, the AirCD and more.

Another innovative product from Creaghan Harry was the PhotoDisk technology of 1992 that allowed companies like Penske trucks and Gulfstream Aerospace to put a complete photo and music/voice brochure on a 3.5" diskette.

Creaghan Harry's involvement in the startup process of a large poultry processing project in 1992 was crucial to the project. This included extensive visits to many poultry plants around the world, including Conagra and Nutrina (Trinidad), and the complete layout and design of the processing facility, hatchery and 16 grow houses, each nearly the size of a football field. This combined with securing financing from Ex-Im Bank and The Development Corporation, helped round the project off and get the company to a great start.

In early 1993, Creaghan Harry created a company that provided internet access and webhosting. Although this may not seem exciting to most people today, at the time it was one of the first internet and hosting providers in the state of New Jersey. This company created many of the first websites for many companies in the insurance, aviation and retail industries along with dial up internet access. At the time, there was no Yahoo, no graphical web browsers and certainly no Face book. His visits to the Canada helped startup the first internet provider in Canada.

Creaghan created a nutritional supplement company selling many health and nutritional supplements. His commercials were seen nationwide via infomercials, was often found in the #1 spot of Yahoo and Google and many health and fitness magazines. Several of these nutritional supplements, including the HGH supplement had a loyal customer base of tens of thousands that made it part of their daily health plan.

Seeing the growth and demand for call center services, in 1996 Creaghan started a customer service call center in Florida supporting the aviation and several other industries. This company later branched off to create offices in Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Panama, Philippines and Nicaragua, supporting companies like Bellsouth/ATT, Cox Cable, Allstate, Time Warner Cable, Kaplan University and many more.

Creaghan Harry still remains a wealth of information and always on the cutting edge of technology and marketing and is called on by his colleagues on an ongoing basis for his input on how to develop concepts and ideas.
